

More Ways to Earn More Money for Approved Roadside Assistance Contractors.

As a Roadside Assistance Contractor, you can expect to see an increase in business as a result of responding to more calls. In addition to this opportunity for growth to current business operations, you can also take advantage of other opportunities offered by AAA that can grow your business and increase potential revenue and profits.

AAA Approved Auto Repair Facilities.

ACG is seeking the best repair facilities to build a relationship with its members, satisfy their vehicle maintenance needs and help triage over 5.5 million road assistance events each year. Repair shops that qualify to participate in the Approved Auto Repair (AAR) program are rewarded with an extensive list of business enhancing benefits that go beyond the pride of displaying the highly regarded AAR sign at your business and increased customer confidence in your repairs. In fact, no other automotive repair program offers anything close to the value of the AAR program.

Typical benefits can include unique savings opportunities on business products and services from nationally known suppliers, and cash rebates on goods you may already be purchasing – all designed to help increase your bottom line. AAR facilities are also able to participate in the AAA Battery Service program and offer for sale on-site AAA branded batteries.